

1923

"Lucky Strike"

Built in 1923 by William Flynn, it demands every shot in the book from an infinite variety of hilly lies. The first nine holes are extremely tight through dense woodland, but then the course opens out with more emphasis on length from the tee. The 449 yard 4th is typical of the opening holes, needing a firm drive to the left, with the approach being played from a difficult side hill lie. The 16th at 527 is in the middle of the finishing holes. Par 3, two par 5's and par 3.. and its approach is tempting to reach in two but the risk is a nervy one.
