Set in western Pennsylvania's breathtaking Laurel Highlands, Laurel Valley Golf Club spans 260 acres nestled between Laurel Ridge Mountain and Chestnut Ridge Mountain. Here, in this spectacular setting, Laurel Valley has realized the dream of its founders to become the ideal golf club—a course of unmatched strength and impeccable beauty whose intricate challenges are matched only by the timeless setting. Laurel Valley has hosted the 1905 PGA, the 1975 Ryder Cup, the 1989 US Senior Open and most recently the 2005 Senior PGA. The hole routing by Dick Wilson in the late 50's is exceptional and his traditional doglegs are ever present on holes 1,3,4,6,9,10,11,12,15,16, and most notably, the 18th around the pond.
